

Why Claiming Humans and Dinosaurs Coexisted Isn't Ridiculous

by David H. www.sparklightplanet.com 4-2012

Young Earth and Supernatural Creationists claim that Dragons, re-termed Dinosaurs in 1841 by Richard Owen, were part of the original Creation of God and coexisted with Humans.

There are some evolutionists and others who propose coexistence, albeit a limited one.

Atheist and agnostics using evolutionary theory claim that it is ridiculous and silly to claim that humans and dinosaurs coexisted as many creationist and crypto zoologist propose.

Evolutionist claim that up to 80 million years separate humans from dinosaurs and that there is no evidence fossil, historical or otherwise that shows an overlap or coexistence. Photo from

<http://www.childrensmuseum.org/themuseum/dinosphere/profiles/dracorex.html>

My Atheist friends may claim me insane for thinking that Supernatural Creation can contend that the evolutionary organization of the fossil record can be invalidated. I contend that yes, the natural progressive evolutionary interpretation of the fossils and fossil record is wrong, unscientific and based often on blind faith. Go big or go home.

<http://bgrnathan.blogspot.com/2010/04/are-fossils-really-millions-years-old.html>

<http://www.answersingenesis.org/articles/ee/origin-of-invertebrates>

Why dare such a thing? Claiming evolutionists have used blind faith in constructing the fossil record. Well, they have been know to construct a whole human species- Nebraska Man from a dead pigs tooth and then have the audacity to use coerced public funds (taxes) to pay for them to put this claim in textbooks and teach it to trusting students(it was taken out years later- but known evolutionary errors persist in textbooks*). It is one thing to make a claim, scientific or otherwise, smart people with agendas do it all the time. It is another to do it publicly with public funds. This has been done multiple times and in diverse ways. See my article, The Evolutionary Fossil Record: Fact or Faked* & www.sparklightplanet.com.

Questions Evolutionist must answer about dinosaurs

Out of place artifacts and fossils in sedimentary layers containing dinosaur bones.

See books, resources, etc.

Dinosaur bones have been dated by radiocarbon (Carbon-14)

Dates generally range from 22,000 to 39,000 Carbon-14 years before present

The dates themselves are not as important as the fact that there is measurable Carbon-14 in dinosaur bones. If dinosaurs have been extinct for 65 million years, there should not be one molecule of Carbon-14 left in their bones!

First, the data (from <http://www.dinosaurc14ages.com/carbondating.htm>, a page of the Paleochronology Group, with Hugh Miller, Josef Holzschuh, and Jean de Pontcharra)

<http://www.newgeology.us/> <http://www.newgeology.us/Dinosaur%20bones%20dated%20by%20Carbon-14.pdf>

The Miracle that we even find dinosaur bones and other older fossils.

If the current rate of erosion is extrapolated back- at current rates (past rates of erosion can be shown to be much greater from environmental studies (the evolutionary practice of uniformitarianism does this all the time- extrapolating from the present)) then current continents and sedimentary layers containing dinosaur bones should have eroded flat and been recycled in 12- 18 million years. Close to three times over in 70 million years. <http://www.detectingdesign.com/geologiccolumn.html>

Other sites: Many show past erosion rates as lower than today, today's rates being affected by humans. But I think this question still poses a scientific issue on Fossils and their age. This is a tough one, as we can only extrapolate and make models about past erosion rates.

Extinction events

Evolutionist claim an extinction event (meteor bombardment- the most widely accepted theory) wiped out dinosaurs and almost all life of earth. This created a genetic bottleneck event, from which they say life rebounded and created all the diversity of creatures we have today. Yet they ridicule the notion that in a global flood cataclysm Noah could have preserved two pairs- at least 4 of ever creature (in ancient Hebrew) these being ancestral creatures whose genetic make up was not deteriorated or depleted. See the Cheetah's genetic extinction*.

What is more genetically difficult. Everything we see today coming from a complex mix of chemicals spontaneous generation/abiogenesis to all life then a mass extinction event approx 50 million years ago of the dinosaurs etc. to all the life we see today. Or the Creation of ancestral kinds of creatures (ancestral wolf/dog to all species of dogs), a global flood cataclysm (see In The Beginning, by Dr Walt Brown) causing a genetic bottleneck, from which we know species typically rebound from with great amounts of diversity (see Degeneration: The End of Evolutionary Theory).

<http://bgrnathan.blogspot.com/2010/04/common-misconceptions-about-evolution.html>

<http://bgrnathan.blogspot.com/2010/04/natural-limits-of-evolution.html>

The Geologic Column <http://www.detectingdesign.com/geologiccolumn.html>

Are there all that many dinosaur species or do scientists not want to share discoveries? Just how many Ancestral kinds of Dinosaurs are there? Were Allosaurus and T-Rex just different species of the same genetic kind?

Of all the creatures in the fossil record (which all agree is still being added to with new discoveries) are there any creatures alive today- major body types - which we do not find there? If progressive evolution is true shouldn't there be hundreds even thousands of creatures alive today which are nowhere found in the fossil record? It seems to me we find the opposite. We find thousands of creatures alive in the past who have gone extinct and are no longer alive today. Isn't this evidence of kinds speciating, adapting and degenerating to extinction?

Back to Human Dinosaur Coexistence

Where's the evidence?

I have compiled most of this “evidence” in “SLP2.0” at www.sparklightplanet.com
Of course these evidences are hotly contested by evolutionists/atheists. If even one of these is true, than it sounds a death knell to NP Evolution. Taken with all the evidences countering NP Evolution from all disciplines of science, It should make one take the time to think about and research the issue of origins for themselves.

Dragon history is nearly universal throughout the world's ancient cultures. Where did this global concept originate? Why is it so universal among cultures who were separated by continents? How did societies throughout the world describe, record, draw, etch, sew, and carve these creatures with such uniformity, if they had not been eyewitnesses of them?

Human Dinosaur coexistence in a Supernatural Creationist Timeline

See timeline at www.sparklightplanet.com

- Creation of the heavens and earth- earth formless and empty(void) - unknown amount of time
- Creation of original kinds of creatures – six days
- Speciation, adaptation, and diversification of all creatures including dragons/dinosaurs
- large creatures original designed as herbivores
- Man partially separates himself and the earth (all their given domain) from God – not totally or all would die and cease to exist, God being the essence of life, light and existence/reality.

- God's supernatural sustaining life is lifted from man and creation- see the need for the tree of Life.
- Degeneration resulting in death enters the living world, diseases, genetic degeneration (mutation etc.), environmental degeneration. Speciation/adaptation and natural/environmental selection were in existence in original creation (entropy was designed into creation- God supersedes entropy) see Entropy and God article* <http://gochristianhelps.com/tracts/stl/entropy.htm>

- Mans evil and self destruction escalate until God chooses to step in and rescue humanity from themselves inducing a global flood cataclysm
In the Beginning: Compelling Evidence for Creation and the Flood, by Dr. Walt Brown.
<http://www.creation-science.com/onlinebook/> www.creation-science.com
- Noah is chosen to be used in preserving original genetic ancestral kinds of land and air creatures including dinosaurs. Is this possible or feasible, see books and articles*
- At least two pairs of ever creature mentioned above are preserved. All ancestral kinds, being in eggs, juveniles/ babies- young durable and small. This would reduce the space and food needs- all creatures would have been able to subsist on organic/ plant material, see above herbivorism. I am sure lots of plants were floating on bio-mats in the cataclysm waters- which weren't salty like to oceans of today- providing additional food. Many animals may have entered a hibernation state, eating less and taking less maintenance.
<http://www.biblesearchers.com/ancients/noah/noah1.shtml>

Post Cataclysm

- Genetic ancestral kinds speciate, diversify and adapt to what we see today.
- The earth's environment changes radically from its pre-flood cataclysm state
- degeneration accelerates in humans and in animals
- The flood environment would have been ultra lush and wet. A water covered earth with no deserts, large inland lakes and oceans, A planet wide ice age would have followed, see In the Beginning by Dr Walt Brown, Old Earth Why Not, etc
- contents sliding apart, riding higher on the mantle
- warmer oceans due to volcanism etc.
- greater precipitation – resulting in more snow- growing ice sheets
- harsher environmental conditions – making it harder for animals to adapt and survive. Dinosaurs being reptilian would have a harder time surviving an ice age.
<http://www.iceagecivilizations.com/> & <http://www.genesisveracity.com/>
- Lower oceans, higher land masses – the animals migrate all over the earth, see map of post flood earth. Or ancient Evolutionary earth. The predator animals pursuing the prey from the origin point of Turkey. Humans pursuing both as the ultimate predator. See animal and human migration*. In the Beginning

- Humanity spreads hunting and killing the fiercest, largest and most auspicious of the animals, mostly dragons/dinosaurs. <http://www.icr.org/article/did-humans-cause-dinosaur-extinctions/>
<http://www.icr.org/men-dinosaurs/>
- by Roman times dinosaurs/ dragons were rare and scarce
- Approximately 500 years ago they were mostly extinct being wiped out for being nuances or valued – a to their rarity – see the hunting of almost extinct animals today and Chinese eat dinosaur/ dragon bones for medicinal purposes etc.)
- today, due to 200 years of Evolutionary theory practically no one is looking for or believes that dinosaurs/dragons still might exist in extremely remote places or in large bodies of water. All evidence that threatens their evolutionary / atheistic views are ignored, destroyed or explained away.

So, what do you think? Is the history valid, the evidences. It is irrational and stupid to propose human dinosaur coexistence? Will more human searching and discovery destroy or reveal the evidence? Will future discoveries confirm or invalidate human dinosaur coexistence. If there are new discoveries in favor of coexistence will they be ignored or destroyed to keep public funding of evolutionary science theory and their public funded research and teaching in our schools. Wouldn't it be sad if because of evolutionary theory and beliefs we destroy and lose our chance to connect and learn more about these amazing “terrible lizards” of the past? Will we trade discovery for a theory that limits all we can know to the material world and the security and comforts of humans wanting to only answer to themselves?
